This agreement positions Arahkai as a premium brand elevation and strategic positioning partner—not a budget affiliate platform. The commission reflects genuine value provided through professional editorial services, strategic positioning, premium audience access, and marketing support that would cost significantly more through traditional agencies.

The positioning is: "You're not paying commission on traffic. You're investing in professional brand elevation, strategic market positioning, and access to a global luxury audience that values authenticity and independent creativity."

Would you like me to create supporting materials (email templates, vendor guidelines, onboarding procedures, etc.) that reinforce this premium positioning?
